

I strongly support converting unused broadcast spectrum to unlicensed use for the good of commerce and community. The use of unlicensed spectrum has shown the true meaning of efficient spectrum use. The current regulatory regime that divides spectrum leases by geographically has been made obsolete by technology. By allowing American business to drive products and services un-hindered by regulation the wireless revolution can continue to grow and lift the American economy with it.